Rig Tight announces new patented Adjustable Outrigger Shock Cords for Offshore Fishing

Burlington, NC:

Rig Tight®, a sport fishing accessories manufacturer in Burlington, NC, recently introduced their new product, Riggies™, the first-ever all-in-one adjustable outrigger shock cord. Riggies™ features the patented Rig Tight® adjustable tension control system for outrigger halyard lines used in offshore fishing.

Riggies™ are designed for fast hookup. They easily connect to the existing gunwale mount pad eye and line lock without tools or additional hardware. Constructed with stainless steel marine-grade hardware and durable, UV-resistant polyester braided rope, Riggies™ are portable, convenient, and easy to use for fishermen of all skill levels.

Riggies™ are manufactured in North Carolina from the highest quality materials designed to withstand rigorous offshore use.

Rig Tight® will be introducing Riggies™ at ICAST at booth 4670.

For more information about the new Riggies™, contact: Rig Tight®, owner James Brannock. Telephone: (336) 516-2910, or email james@rightight.com.
